Home Improvement Plan

The Home Improvement Plan of the National Employment Commission is a laudable effort to provide an opportunity for home owners to rehabili-tate or improve their property and at the same time release unemployed persons from the relief rolls on which they are now dependent for sustenance.

The scheme is founded on the sound policy of rehabilitation of property in need of repairs and of people in need of work, through the ordinary channels of credit; and industry, and to that extent is worthy of support, for it is axiomatic that only through absorption by industry can a permanent and satisfactory solution of the unemployment problem be found. The Home Improvement Plan is a genuine effort to restore a percentage of the Home Improvement Plan is a genuine effort to restore a percentage of the unemployed to industrial payentles.

Unfortunately, the application of the scheme to the prairie provinces of Western Canada is likely to be very limited in scope and must of necessity be almost entirely confined to the larger urban centres despite the announced intent to make it operable in rural districts as well as urban municipalities. This is due to the fact that very few farmers in the west, who may wish to secure loans from the bank, fle at the present time in a position to comply with the terms of repayment provided for in the agreement between the Commission and the banks.

In the official literature issued by the Commission outiling the terms under which loans can be secured from the banks for such a nurnose it is who may wish to secure loans from the bank, the at the present time in a position to comply with the terms of repayment provided for in the agreement between the Commission and the banks.

In the official literature issued by the Commission outlining the terms under which loans can be secured from the banks for such a purpose it is set forth that: "It is the intention that the approved lending institutions should make loans for home improvement purposes to all owners of homes whose character and income are such as to give reasonable assurance to the lending institutions that the monthly instalments can and will be paid as they fall due."

It is true that another clause provides for some modification of the monthly instalment requirement by the addition: "or in suitable instalments for such other periods as may be necessary to fit the conditions of the individual borrower." The point, however, is that the terms of repayment are predicated on the assumption that the borrower has an assured income and is able to satisfy the bank that he can and will meet regular instalments at due dates, no matter what period may be agreed upon.

That such a proviso is not sufficiently elastic to meet the requirements of the Western prairie farmer is obvious on the face of it. Even under inormal conditions prairie farmers could not satisfy the bank that they could meet instalments more frequently than once a year and as they are now circumstanced with an accumulation of years of debt arrears encumbering their property, few if any, could give a satisfactory guarantee that hetey could meet instalments were none a year for the next year or two with any degree of reasonable certainty.

In all three western provinces committees have been set up to advance the plan and they are making efforts to form local committee to perate in their districts and towns and villages. In Saskatchewan the provincial committees is being advised by local committees that the plan is inoperable in their districts for the reasons already outlined and this als

EASIEST WAY TO CURB A

The modern way to treat a cold is this: Two "Aspiria" tablets the moment you feel a cold coming on. Repeat, if necessary, in two hours. If you have a sore throat with the cold, dissolve 3 "Aspiria" tablets in ½ glass of water and gargle with this twice. The "Aspiria" you take internally will act to combat fever, aches, pains and the cold itself. The gargle will provide almost instant relief from soreness and rawness of your throat. Your doctor, we feel sure, will approve this modern way of treating a cold.
